

The Director of Central Intelligence

Washington, D.C. 20505

National Intelligence Council

23 June 1988

Lieutenant General Leonard H. Perroots
Director, Defense Intelligence Agency
The Pentagon
Washington, DC 20340

Dear General Perroots:

I take great pleasure in extending my thanks and appreciation to [redacted] from your Directorate for Research, for his truly outstanding effort as Manager of the Interagency Intelligence Memorandum on Soviet Strategic Offensive Land-Based Mobile Missile Programs, recently published by the National Intelligence Officer for Strategic Programs. [redacted]

[redacted] was called upon in August 1987 to see this project through to completion, a task which he accepted willingly and enthusiastically, although he already had enormous responsibilities in the Defense Intelligence Agency during endgame for the INF Treaty.

[redacted] conducted final interagency coordination sessions, resolved analytical differences, and reviewed Memorandum drafts prior to publication, all of which he accomplished in a timely fashion. At all times, he remained committed to producing a first-class National Intelligence product.

[redacted] professionalism, experience, and expertise are talents that he applied judiciously as Manager of this comprehensive Intelligence Community document on strategic mobile missiles. His contributions reflect favorably on himself and the Defense Intelligence Agency, and his efforts have served the best interests of the Community as a whole.

Sincerely,

Fritz W. Ermarth
Chairman, National Intelligence Council